Preface

1805851

The first general catalog of officers and alumni of Marietta College was printed as a part of the annual catalog of the academic year of 1844-1845. Of this catalog nearly four of the whole twenty-two pages are taken up with the names of the ninety-nine officers and graduates of the institution from the beginning to that date.

The first of the general catalogs consisting of separately organized material was published in 1846. The title page of this publication is as follows:

Another general catalog was issued in 1850. This issue may be designated as the first of the 'triennials' which were published with undisturbed frequency for the next thirty-three years. We have, therefore, the editions of 1853, 1856, 1859, 1862, 1865, 1871, 1874, 1877, 1880 and 1883.

As the title page, reproduced above, of the first general catalog indicates the language of the early publications was Latin. The first of the catalogs printed in the English language was the last of the 'triennials,' that of 1883.

The last of the 'triennials' in 1883 was published near the close of the active administration of President Israel Ward Andrews who had supervised the publication during his administration as president 1855-1885. In 1885 President John Eaton succeeded President Andrews. President Eaton brought in a new idea into Marietta College in the record of its officers and alumni,—that of the addition of biographical material. The catalogs hitherto contained only the names. Early in his administration President Eaton appointed Professor Edward E. Phillips to the task of publishing a new general catalog. In appointing Professor Phillips, Dr. Eaton made the suggestion of the addition of biographical material and the further suggestion of using the general catalog of Andover Theological Seminary as the model. With these instructions Professor Phillips began his work as compiler and editor of the edition appearing in 1887. This edition which had for its title "General Catalogue Marietta College 1835-1887" contained eighty-four pages not including the cover. The last of the 'triennials' without any biographical material contained but thirty-two. At the date of the publication of this edition, Mr. E. R. Alderman, then editor of The Marietta Register, took the occasion to say editorially:

"The General Catalogue of Marietta College 1835 to 1887, just out, should afford encouragement to those who have so long faithfully upheld the College. In it an effort is made to give an idea of what the alumni have done for the world, by naming their known occupations. Their present postoffice addresses are also inserted as far as ascertained. The whole number of graduates is 582, of whom 176 became clergymen. No attempt is made to give the names of those who have received more or less training from the College but did not complete the course, numbering no doubt more than two thousand, whose lives have been enlarged and rendered more useful by its influence. Possibly their names may be included in some future issue.

"In addition to the numerous important posts which the alumni have occupied near to Marietta, they have furnished a member of Congress for Oregon, a Governor for California, and a prominent professor for its university; missionaries to China, Persia, Africa, etc., a United States Senator for Alabama, and two of its leading public school educators; and many others for distant positions of responsibility. The number who served in the late war is conspicuous.

"This Catalogue can hardly fail to bind the alumni more closely together, to add new friends to the College, and to inspire to new endeavors, to increase attendance and funds as means of greater usefulness. The country, the world, the times need all the college can do. The population that looks here for college education is large, and should furnish five times as many students if justice is done its own future possibilities."

The edition of 1891 entitled "Marietta General Catalogue 1835-1891" was published at Commencement in 1891 with Professor Phillips again as editor. This edition contained much fuller material than that of 1887. There were 128 pages in this edition.

Again in 1900 Professor Phillips was called to the editorship of the new edition projected for the year following. This edition was published as per schedule in 1901 and bore the well deserved comment of 'bigger and better' than ever before with its one hundred and sixty-eight pages of information. This edition is the immediate forerunner of the book to follow.

Introduction

The new edition of a general catalog is usually the result of the close attention of several persons of every college generation. The new edition of "The General Catalog of the Officers and Alumni of Marietta College" is no exception. This edition is the result of the attention of some persons or some set of persons in every college generation of faculty and alumni for the past seventy-five years. The work of gathering material for the present edition has been going on since the publication of the edition of 1901 by zealous alumni and faculty. At times, perhaps, little progress was made, and with the passing of some of the older alumni the work lost much momentum. But always deposit of information was made in the proper place and the work went on. However, since the organization of the alumni, records of some sort have been kept for the benefit of the generations to follow. In the present administration of the college and better organized alumni work, every alumnus has been urged to send in the facts concerning himself for filing against the publication date of general catalogs of the future.

The history of the organization of the material for the present edition has been going on actively since June of 1924 when The Alumni Council and The Alumni Association ordered the work to be completed. There were delays because of the largeness of the work which was to be done in spare and idle time of those commissioned with the task. In February of 1926 Mr. Clifford E. Corwin was engaged to organize the work for final publication. Mr. Corwin was bringing the work to completion according to the plans for former general catalogs, which included officers and graduates, when in June of that year the Council and the Association ordered the addition of information of as many former students as possible. By this order the work has been greatly improved, but necessarily delayed. Mr. Corwin completed his part of the work in January, 1927. Since that date the material has been lying dormant, awaiting final preparation and financial arrangements for the printing.

The plan of the present edition is outlined in the introduction. As above indicated the names and biographical material of as many former students as can be reached are included in the present work. This material will be found just following the latest class of graduates. Gathering of biographical material concerning former students has not been attempted beyond the class of 1915.

In reading this work or the parts in which you as an alumnus are most interested, will you look forward another ten or fifteen years to another edition and keep the Secretary informed of yourself so that final organization of the material at that date will be simpler?

Ex-Students by Classes of Marietta College

Note:—The following is the list of the names and in some cases the biographies of the former students of Marietta College who did not graduate. Due to the scant information concerning the former students of the first twenty five year period, no attempt has been made to search for the facts. In the cases of those in college since, information is printed only of those who replied to one of the two questionaires sent out for that purpose. The information is given only as far as the class of 1915.
